Name or Description of Goods

Registration Date

Article 15.

- 1) If the application for the registration of a trademark was accepted and has not been opposed, and the prescribed time for opposition expires, or having been opposed and the opposition has been decided in favor of the applicant, the registrar shall register the said trademark, on receiving payment of the prescribed fee, and unless the application has been accepted in error or unless the court otherwise directs. The trademark shall then be registered as from the date of the application for registration. In the case of an application filed in compliance with the provisions of Article 41 of this law, the trademark shall be registered as from the date of application for registration in the foreign country, and such date shall be deemed for the purposes of this law to be the date of registration.

Concurrent Use of a Trademark

- 2) A decision of the registrar under this Article may be appealed to the high court of justice, and the court shall on appeal have the same powers as are by this Article conferred upon the registrar.
- 3) An appeal under this Article shall be submitted within thirty days as from the date of the decision of the registrar.

Assignment of Trademarks and Allocation to Partners on the Dissolution of a Partnership

Without prejudice to the provisions of Article 26 of this law, whoever is interested may apply to the registrar for the cancellation of any trademark registered in the name of a third party if its registrant has not actually used it continuously for a period of three years preceding the application unless the registrant proves that nonuse has been due to special circumstances in the trade or to justifiable reasons which prevented use.

- 1) Use of the registered trademark by third parties under the authorization of its owner shall be regarded as use for the purposes of continued registration under the provision of Paragraph 1 of this Article.
- 2) The Registrar shall permit, before he issues his decision on the cancellation application, the two parties to present their pleadings. The Registrar's decision shall be subject to appeal before the High Court of Justice.

Any decision of the registrar made under this Article shall be subject to appeal to the high court of justice.

Article 26.

  - a. The right to use the duly registered trademark shall be limited to its owner and he shall have the right to prevent third parties from using confusingly identical or similar marks without his prior consent. Confusion shall be assumed if an identical trademark is used for identical goods.
  - b. If a trademark is well-known and if it is not registered, then its owner may demand the competent court to prevent third parties from using it on identical or unidentical goods or services provided that such use indicates a connection between those goods or services and the well-known mark and provided that there is a likelihood of prejudice to the interests of the trademark owner because of such use. A likelihood of confusion shall be assumed if an identical well-known mark is used on identical goods.
  - c. If two or more registered persons of one trademark (or a mark confusingly similar) cover the same goods, none of them shall alone have the right to use it under the registration (except to the extent determined by the Registrar or the High Court of Justice). Otherwise, each of them shall have the self-same rights as if he were the only registered proprietor of the trademark.
- 2) The trademark owner may license one or more persons, under a notarized contract to be filed with the Registrar, to use the mark for all or some of the goods. Likewise, the trademark owner shall have the right to use it unless otherwise is agreed upon. The use license must not exceed the protection period of the registered mark.

- 4) Enter a disclaimer or memorandum relating to a trademark, if that disclaimer or memorandum does not in any way extend the rights given by the existing registration of such trademark, or
- 5) Cancel the entry of a trademark in the register. Any decision of the registrar made under the provisions of this Article shall be subject to appeal before the high court of justice.

Applications for the Insertion in the Register of Entries Relating to Amendment or Substitution of the Classes of Goods Article 28.

The minister of commerce may, from time to time, on the strength of a motion by the registrar and approval of the council of ministers, set down regulations, prescribe such forms and generally do such things as he thinks expedient for empowering the registrar to amend the register, whether by making new entries or expunging or varying entries therein, to the extent which may be requisite for the purpose of securing conformity between the designation therein of the goods or classes of goods, in respect of which the trademark is registered, with any amended or substituted classification that he may order to be entered.

- 1) In exercising any power of those conferred on him in accordance with the aforesaid, the registrar may not make any amendment of the register that may result in adding any goods or any other class of goods to those goods or classes of goods in respect of which a trademark is registered immediately prior to the date the amendment is to be made. He may not also antedate the registration of a trademark in respect of goods with a date previous to the registration, provided that the provisions of this paragraph shall not affect any aspect in relation to the goods which the registrar believes the application of the provisions of this paragraph to which shall involve undue complexity and that the addition or antedating, as the case may be, shall not tackle a substantial portion of the goods and shall not prejudice the rights of any person.
- 2) A proposal for the amendment of the register shall, for the purposes of the aforesaid, be notified to the registered proprietor of the trademark affected. The said registrant may appeal to the high court of justice, provided that the proposal shall be published along with any modification thereto. Likewise, any person aggrieved by the proposal may oppose the amendment before the registrar on the grounds that the proposed amendment contravenes the provisions of the last preceding paragraph. The decision of the registrar on any such opposition shall be subject to appeal to the high court of justice.

Registration is a Principal Evidence
Article 29.

The registration of a person as the proprietor of a trademark shall in all legal proceedings relating to the registration constitute evidence of the validity of the original registration of such trademark and all subsequent assignments and transfers of the trademark.

Trademarks Registered Under Previous Laws and Other Provisions Relating to the Transitional Period
Article 30.

No trademark which is entered in the register at the commencement of this law and which under the present law is a registrable trademark, shall be removed or struck off the register on the mere grounds that it was not registrable under the laws in force at the date of its registration. But there is no provision in this Article which shall subject any person to any liability as a result of any act or thing done before the enforcement of this law to which he would not have been subject under the law then in force.

Article 34.

No person shall have the right to file a lawsuit to claim damages for any infringement upon a trademark not registered in the Kingdom. However, he shall have the right to apply for the Registrar to cancel a trademark registered in the Kingdom by a person who doesn't own it after it was registered abroad if the grounds claimed are the ones mentioned in paragraphs 6, 7, 10 & 12 of Article 8 of this law.
